

Before Mortals

BEGINNING: WORLD POPULATED BY THE FOUR CREATURES FROM THEIR RIFTS

Child Prophet

MORTALS CAME, THE FOUR BEASTS COULDN'T AGREE

DRAGONS AND DEMONS STARTED HUNTING MORTALS, DRUIDS FOUGHT TO DEFEND THE MORTALS, GIANTS FOUGHT FOR SPORT

WAR OF FOUR

DRAGONS PUSHED THE GIANTS BACK, DRUIDS HELPED SEAL THE DEMONS

The Mighty Clash! Druids vs Dragons: a centuries-long conflict

THE MORTALS AND DRUIDS SEALED THE DRAGONS UNDER A SOUTHERN MOUNTAIN (Magothica)

ENTER THE AGE OF MORTAL CLANS

Pre-Jerosha Era (Western)

Druids noticed the humans begin to fight one another now that there is no common enemy

The Druid Nation Splits: One tries to help find peace, the other lets nature take its course

MORTALS SPLINTER EVEN FURTHER (HUNDREDS OF FACTIONS)

Western Druids struggle to parent across all of Elustria

Some mortal factions value the Druids, some others don't

A Druid child is killed and displayed by a mortal clan of lumberjacks

After years of displaced borders, Druid tensions rise. Jerosha is crowned

Princess Juniper killed during a mortal conflict

Tantakhan, Imperiamotto, Farfalleon

Pre-Jerosha Era (Eastern)

Closing of the Moon Bridge, severing the Druid Nations

At first, they have no contact with the mortal clans until one Druid helps a dispute between the goliaths and the dwarves

Druids would trade with mortals and defend their lands if ever threatened, but never sided with anyone

The mortals duked it out and eventually, the Shilu Shogunate won out. Gaining control of the northeastern side of Elustria

The Druids establish contact with the Shilu, descendants of the goliaths and dwarves they once helped, and begin diplomacy

Druids find out that the Shilu Shogunate control the Giants' Rift

Druid Nation debates whether to free the Giants or not; Worried of vengeance or malice

Shilu Shogunate ask Druids to trade for Black Oak, a mythical material in Palgeea (The Shifting Acres). Suspicions arise of the Giants' return

Jerosha Era

Druid King Jerosha assembles a team of his most trusted soldiers and their platoons

He gathers his forces and kidnaps his nation's holy leaders; Hiding them until the end of the conflict

During the confusion, Jerosha orders his armies across the Moon Bridge; Forcing a reunification of the Druids

Jerosha takes on the burden of desecrating a holy place in exchange for Black Oak

Jerosha goes to Dragon Head Isles and "sways" the forge masters to make him Dark Oak weapons

Jerosha begins THE RAMPAGING FOREST CAMPAIGN

The Druid Nation's borders were expanded tremendously as Jerosha lay waste to many mortal clans

The holy leaders are freed and the armies restrain Jerosha and his men. They are tried and killed

Post Jerosha Era

Jerosha is convicted and hung

Druid elders assemble the Peace Legions (+50 years)

The Child Prophets of this era are forced to form a Peace Legion

The Druid Nations try to stick together until their reparations are paid post-Rampaging Forest

Refugees run to the Mitsutake for asylum

One of the child prophets murders an entire village and disappears. Nation wide panic ensues

The other two separate the nations again, and close the Moon Bridge down

The druids help heal the nation while Zurvan and the missing prophet, Izyr, begin taking over the Mitsutake nation

The Eastern Druids invest a lot in repairing their relationship with the people of Shilu

The Western Druids tried their best to make amends with the mortals

Some Ents were mysteriously planted in Elustria, leading into the creation of more Druids

MAJOR HOUSES BEGIN TO FORM

Bridges are being built, there are disputes and alliances that lead to more war

Peace Legions slowly pull back and decide to leave the mortal factions to their own devices

Pre Unification Era

Mitsutake Nation creates a Council with elected officials as conflict with their neighbors rises

C

C

